Clean Wood Recovery and Recycling Program

Why landfill something as trash when it can be made back into something that is healthy for the soil. The Greater Lebanon Refuse Authority is responsible for managing Lebanon County's municipal solid waste. Recycling is an integral part of its integrated solid waste management practices. Diverting clean wood from the landfill is the first step in the recovery process.

Completion of the loop requires that the clean wood be processed and then put back out on the market for future use. GLRA's Clean Wood Recovery and Recycling Program is a perfect example of completing the recycling loop. We take clean wood out of the waste stream and put it through a natural decomposition process which results in a high-nutrient material. This final product is remarketed as mulch, thus the recycling loop is closed.
